

CASE NAME: NOT SO POPULAR SCIENCE

ATTENDING OFFICER(S): JEFF FORD

BOSTON POLICE DEPARTMENT

CRIME LOCATION: MAPPARIUM

A short recounting of citrus fruit starting at the beginning of the universe

It's an incredibly unlikely event -- Kenny, Cartman and Kyle have an African-American friend

If you slightly change the initial conditions the meat blackens very differently

A collection of kings and queens is smarter than they are individually

What Dad did in the past – with circles!

How the behavior of wan women from seven Pacific islands relates to the evolving meaning of gender in American society

Lady's companion who reproduces better by not sharing

How to use small lies in order to influence our choices toward better ones

Newton and Leibnitz fight about who first figured out the rate of change of a skin protuberance

A mathematical physicist writes about a ruler with freshly sewn clothes

A history of cryptography as applied to Shiner beer

A famous AI researcher presents this model of human intelligence which is built from small, not very spicy, agents

Essay collection that takes its name from someone who thought his spouse was a small shelter

Someone gets stronger to win the fight about the Apatosaurus name

Party featuring eye-bending drawings and fugues

What goes on inside the head of a former St. Louis Cardinal Lou?

Why phi is important in planning your deck alternative

An advice columnist answers questions about how to win at Piet Hein's most famous game if you are an animal with unusual biology

A Chicago economist and a New York Times reporter explore the hidden side of uncoiled things

How much you have to pay at the bar to hear the parallels between modern science and Eastern mysticism

How Eurasian cultures have survived with a combination of alcohol, disease, and metalworking

The Mathematica creator completely revolutionizes the study of church seating

This book was inspired by a photograph from Voyager of a very small sleeping place

After 180 seconds of existence, there was no clear winner in the universe

This far-out royal studies sex and the evolution of human nature

After being evicted by God, Adam turns to pearl collection

Collection of Martin Gardner essays about how in the darkness things are slow